Ready, Set, Go.

Itching to get away for the holidays? Well, lucky for you, December is a great time to plan a trip as many airlines, hotels, and tour operators are offering can't-miss deals for those in search of a vacation abroad. While it is the holiday season and Santa can be seen making his rounds, you don't need to travel just to winter wonderlands. Whether you're looking for a tropical getaway, a place to explore the unknown or unwind in nature, here are 25 places around the world that won't disappoint this December.

December is Guadalajara's dry season when temperatures hang around the lower 80s and there's very little rainfall. It's an ideal escape from a cold winter in the U.S., plus budget-friendly for those looking to save some extra money pre-holidays. Tequila connoisseurs can explore Tequila's UNESCO World Heritage Site agave fields, where the namesake spirit was
