The only thing that's stopping you from hitting every single Oscar party happening around town is traffic — and an invitation.

Here are our top choices for the star-studded fun that's on tap leading up to and including the night of the Academy Awards on February 24 — the ones that are truly worth doling up and attacking the gridlock.

GBK Pre-Oscar Luxury Lounge

Undisclosed Rodeo Drive venue

Friday, Feb. 22 and Saturday, Feb. 23, beginning at 12 noon each day

What's the scoop: Three floors of luxury vendors will greet past Oscar winners and current nominees as they discover the GBK Pre-Oscar Luxury Lounge nestled in a spot at the heart of Rodeo Drive. Returning to the same place that drew everyone from Susan Sarandon, Miles Teller and Doug Jones to Alexandre Desplat and Carter Burwell last year, this year's nominees can expect more than $50,000 worth of luxury goods packed into the giant black body bag that is GBK's signature take-home tote. From trips to the Suzhou region of China to diamonds, leather jackets, a robot from Temi and a massage chair from Kahuna, there may actually be too much swag at this one to fit into that huge sack.

Who's making the scene: GBK gives back to charities including Reach Up, Reach Out, one of Viola Davis' favorite causes, so expect to see her in the mix. Spike Lee, Angela Bassett and Linda Cardellini all meandered through the GBK Golden Globes Lounge, so they're all on the list, too.
